We must be attentive to this type of shares because they are clear signs of recent times. À «We do not carry out Bafomet here with the hope of replacing the monument of ten Commandments. However, to be clear, the Conventional does not require violence or discrimination against anyone, although some opponents of Orthodox Christian belief have tried to characterize it that way. The Gospels reveal that Jesus Christ was revolutionary in the way he treated women and children with dignity and compassion, giving them an honor at a time in the history in which they had been given little. In fact, he treated everything with dignity; However, the requirement of him was that for the first time they tried God and "did not return to sin". I am your hope. Unfortunately, Greg Epstein represents a growing part of the American public: those who do not believe in God and refuse judo-Christian values, but clinging to a vague spirituality and consumers who allows them to cling to an appearance of transcendence while living as pagans .
